

“Learning from the crisis”

Covid-19 has made us starkly aware that our lives on this planet are all closely tied to a common fate. Germany’s response to the crisis so far has been impressive, but we know that this challenge cannot be mastered without science, research, and international collaboration. That is why we need more global cooperation, more scientific exchange. In his video message, President Prof. Dr. Joybrato Mukherjee details what we have already learned from the crisis.
