Prestigious research organisations, universities and industry collaborate across many sectors, not only enabling the German economy to remain innovative and competitive, but enabling you, as a junior researcher or postdoc, to find jobs and fellowships in cutting-edge research projects.

Wherever you wish your career to take you in Germany, it’s vital you have an outstanding doctorate, can demonstrate commitment and motivation and have a research project that is relevant to your future employer.

Discover more about rewarding career and research opportunities in Germany at www.research-in-germany.org/junior-researchers.

Sign up for newsletter

The „Research in Germany“ newsletter informs you about interesting research projects, your career opportunities and current funding programmes for PhD students and researchers. Sign up now: www.research-in-germany.org/newsletter.