

Country-related cooperation programme with Argentina (ALEARG) • DAAD

Overview

Objective

Students, graduates, doctoral candidates and postdocs receive a scholarship to complete a study or research stay or a Master's, postgraduate or doctoral degree in Germany.

Who can apply?

Students, graduates, doctoral candidates, postdocs or teachers at universities in Argentina or researchers at publicly funded institutions of Argentine nationality usually up to the age of

- 26 in the case of students of engineering
- 36 in all other cases

What is supported?

1. Advanced students of engineering who are in their last year of studies complete a study year with a practical relevance in Germany
2. Graduates complete a Master's or postgraduate course of study
3. Doctoral candidates take part in a study visit to Germany as part of their doctoral studies
4. Postdocs complete a research visit

Duration of funding

1. Students of engineering complete a one-year, non-extendable study visit consisting of one semester of studies at a university plus a 4 to 6-month internship with a German company. Alternatively, students can complete a second semester at university with an application-oriented research project.
2. Graduates may apply for a Master's or postgraduate course at a German university of up to two years
3. Doctoral candidates at a university in Argentina complete
 - a) a doctoral stay of up to two years, or
 - b) receive a short-term 2 to 6-month doctoral scholarship for Germany
4. Postdocs who finished their doctoral studies no longer than 3 years previously complete a
 - a) 1 to 2-year or
 - b) 2 to 6-month research visit to Germany

The scholarships (with the exception of 1), 3b) and 4b)) are awarded for one year respectively. If the student wishes to extend the scholarship for a second year, he/she has to submit an application which is reviewed by a selection committee.
