Graduate

„The Foundation College is a great opportunity for everyone who wants to study in Germany. The staff and teachers of the college as well as the students from all over the world create a nice learning atmosphere. I think Paderborn is an attractive city with over 20,000 students – this has a positive impact on the cultural, leisure time and sports events that it has to offer.“

Paderborn University

The International Foundation College at Paderborn University offers specific preparation courses for international students who are interested in studying mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, information technology, industrial engineering, mathematics, computer sciences, physics, chemistry, etc.

The Foundation College helps high school graduates (secondary school graduates) whose school diploma does not directly entitle them to enter a Bachelor's study programme at a German institution of higher education. It offers the necessary courses which, after successfully passing the final assessment exam (Feststellungsprüfung/FSP), give students access to these technical and scientific higher education programmes at all German universities and universities of applied sciences.

There are good reasons to choose the International Foundation College at Paderborn. The advantages include the following:

- A diploma that is recognised at all German universities and universities of applied sciences
- State-approved assessment test ("Feststellungsprüfung") at Paderborn University
- Learning environment with modern classrooms and laboratories
- Well-equipped accommodations near the university campus
- Highly qualified, friendly teachers with a lot of professional experience
- Awarded with the quality label "Training - Made in Germany" by the German Federal Ministry of Education and Research
- Guaranteed place of study for our graduates in an admission-free Bachelor's programme at Paderborn University
- The only foundation college in North Rhine-Westphalia that cooperates with a state-owned German university
- Semester ticket for free use of public transportation throughout North Rhine-Westphalia as well as interesting excursions
